A FEW WORDS

To Government Clerke, Working Men. Hercantile Clerks. Dressmakers. Housekeepers. Sewing Girls, and to all who are desirous of bettering their condition by saving small amounts and opening a bank account.

The business of the Industrial Banking and Investment Association appeals more strongly to you than to any others.

The accumulation of small savings is the beginning of affluence. Just as "large oaks from little scorns grow" so will your small savings grow into a large bank account. A beginning is really all that is necessary, for the smallest amount of itself creates an ambition to attain This Company will give you a small savings drop the pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters for which you have no immediate use. We will then send a man to your house once a month-oftener, or not so often, as you desire.

The bank is then opened in your presence, the money counted and you are given a receipt therefor by our Agent, who brings the money to us and it is credited to your account. Thus you are enabled to run a Bank Account without the rouble or inconvenience of going to the bank.

All money deposited in this manner with us is subject to check at any time. Deposits of 5 cents and upward received.

The Company solicits both active and inactive accounts. The Company issues Certificates of Deposit in amounts of $5 and upward, allowing an interest of 6 per cent thereon. Thus it is that each holder of a $5 Certificate becomes a partner in the hosticase of the County of

One of the most important features of the business is the issuance of Certified Checks for the safety and convenience of those traveling. These Certified Checks are also convenient in paying accounts by mail. They are issued for any amount, made up in a check book in sums of $5. $10 and $20, and are good only after the name of the party to whom it is payable and your signature are attached. The Company will act as trustee for individuals,

Hence it is we do not aim to stiract trade by quoting low prices; for low prices would mean of performing. "The best is none too good," and you will get only the best

Fenner Lee. secretary of the United States legation at Brazil, now on his way to that port with his family on the bark Baltimore.

UNCERTAINTY ABOUT MR. BLAINE'S ARRIVAL There is some uncertainty as to just when Secretary Blaine will reach town. He is expected retary Blaine will reach town. He is expected within a few hours, and the house is all ready for him whenever he may arrive. His daughter Hattie and James G. Blaine, jr., came yesterday to prepare everything. At the house one of the servants said that the Secretary would get here this evening, but at the department it was said that the party would not reach here until temperors.

RATES NOT UNREASONABLE.—The interstat ommerce commission in an opinion by Comnissioner Veazey has announced its decision of the case of Daniel Buchanan against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. It states that rates on wheat and bariey of 50 and 56 cents per hundredweight, respectively, charged by the defendant from Ritzville, Wash., to St. Paul, Minn., a distance of 1,576 miles and, in view of the circumstances and conditions sur rounding the traffic, are not unreasonable.

THE DEMAND FOR DIMES .- The director of the mint says that there is no longer any ground or complaint against the 10-cent pieces coined at the New Orleans mint, for the reason that the dimes now being coined at that mint are perfect in every detail. He said that it was only recently that they began the coinage of dimes at New Orleans, and it was natural that some of the pieces first turned out were not altogether perfect in finish. He added that this has all been changed and the coinage is now above criticism. The department is mak-ing every effort to meet the continued heavy DELINQUENT NATIONAL BANKS. - Notwithstanding the fact that interest on 41/4 per cent bonds ceased September 2 and that they have been since unavailable as security for national bank circulation, and the further fact that the bank circulation, and the further fact that the controller of the currency has officially advised all national banks to that effect, the treasurer of the United States still holds $221,-900 of these bonds to secure the circulation of eleven national banks. In order to correct this state of affairs the controller of the currency has addressed a letter to each of the delinquent banks, in which he says that these bonds are being improperly used as a basis of circulation and should be immediately replaced by interest-bearing bonds, as required by law. THE DISTRICT DIRECT TAL. Controller Matthews Proposes to Take the Matter Into Court.

TWO CENTS.

A letter was sent to the Commissioners of the District today by First Controller Matthews of the Treasury Department, suggesting that the question that has arisen in regard to the ownership of the direct tax fund be referred for decision to the Court of Claims. This has so far been un-answered by the Commissioners, but the con-this city after visiting Chicago and makthe Court of Claims. This has so far been unanswered by the Commissioners, but the controller expects their reply in a day or two. His proposition is for the District to enter suit against the United States for the recovery of the money—about $50,000—and the issue sill be on the question of whether the treasury should pay direct to the District to the the individual taxpavers. In case the court decides against the District the money will be paid to the individuals, either in person or to the District in trust for them. But should the suit go against the United States the money will be placed to the credit of the District.

Thus the suit—which would be a friendly one—would in either case result in a defeat of the United States as far as the retention of the money is concerned. The court would be merely an arbitrator.

Controller Matthews is firm in his belief that the money belongs to the District, and he thinks that the court would so hold. The

In case the government won the suit the court would deliver a judgment that would in itself be a direction to the controller to pay the money to the individuals, and it would broken by accommant and a light of Great Britain. probably accompany such a judgment with the requisite directions. He had jurisdiction over congressional appropria-tions to institutions, but the fund from which tions to institutions, but the fund from which the association received assistance was appropriated for the Commissioners to allot as they saw proper, and certainly Mr. Warner had nothing whatever to do with that.

He thought the bill providing for a superintendent of charities a good measure as a whole, but criticised the provision that the man to supervise our charities must not be a resident of Washington.

Rev. W. E. Parsons and Secretary L. S. Emery of the association also spoke. The BOND REDEMPTIONS .- The amount of 41/4 per

The latter gave a detailed account of the work of the association and stated during his remarks that since the appointment of Dr. Warner contributions had fallen off 25 per cent. It was not his chiest, to reflect months superintendnot his object to reflect upon the superintend-ent of charities, but such was the case. Citizens did not like to contribute funds to be given away by a man whom they did not know.

ENGLAND AND THE PAIR

Report of Sir Henry Wood and Mr. Jume Dredge to the Royal Commiss London, Oct. 23.-There was published to day the elaborate report of Sir Henry Wood and Mr. James Dredge, the British

The British commissioners, it appears, were much impressed with the manner in which the important work at Chicago has been under-taken, and they say that there is no doubt whatever of the ultimate success of the fair. The commissioners, among their conclusions arrived at, say: "We also believe that our visit was of some switches." A committee Protests to the Commissioners Against Mr. Warner's Recommendation.

A committee from the Associated Charities appeared before the Commissioners this morning to protest against the recommendation of Superintendent of Charities A. G. Warner that the association shall not have the annual allotment of $1,000, as set aside by the Commissioners remarked: "So far as we could judge, great skill and boldness characterize the general engineering designs, which have all been prepared by the construction department.

Touching upon the question of decorating they state that "it is gratifying to record that the important work of decoration is controlled by an Englishman, Mr. Pretyman."

As to local transportation the reports assert: "There is no doubt that the problem involving the transportation of passengers from the city

"There is no doubt that the problem involving the transportation of passengers from the city (Chicago) to the exhibition will be successfully solved. The question of railways within the grounds is a very serious one. The authorities have made many arrangements in this direction, but it will be difficult to provide too liberally for the easy circulation of visitors within the vast encountry."

The royal commission also decided to appoint The royal commission also decided to appoint committees to attend to finance, fine art, indian exhibits, colonial exhibits, engineering science, education and other branches of Great Britain's intended exhibit at Chicago.

In addition the commission also decided to appoint a committee of ladies to act in conjunction with the ladies' committee of Chicago.

Finally the commission decided to invite the chamber of commerce to act as local committees for the purpose of assisting and additional confidence.

rescued our party from the usurpers we may hope for its continued progress, guided by the principles into down by Jenerson and followed by Jackson, Seymour and Hiden." THE ENGINEER WAS VIGILANT.

And Another Attempt to Wreck an English Express Train Was Frustrated. Lonpon, Oct. 23 .- On Wednesday last the traveling world of England was startled and justly indignant at a dastardly attempt to wreck an express train on the Great Western railroad near Reading by the placing of a number of sleepers across the rails. Luckily the engineer saw the obstruction in time, put down the brakes, and the engine plowed through the obstruction without leaving the rails. The feeling of borror and indignation which this attempt created was still being openly expressed in the newspapers and eisewhere when at about noon totoday an attempt was made near Croydon to wreck the Lastoourne express trail. The rascais who planned this outrage placed a quantity of fish plates and iron chains across the rails in front of the express.

As in the case of the Reading attempt, the engineer of the Eastbourne express caught signt of the obstruction in time to "down breakes," and though his engine ran into the pile of iron intended to wreck the trail it went through it and kept the rails. The engine, however, was greatly damaged, though a serious calamity was averted.

The criminal investigation department of Scotland Yard (police headquarters of London) has been asked to assist the railroad authorities in making a thorough investigation of the ber of sleepers across the rails. Luckily the
